

MESOAMÉRICA

Guidelines for Submissions

Manuscripts considered for publication in Mesoamérica should be submitted as follows:

We will need an electronic copy of your manuscript and a 100-150 word abstract briefly outlining its content. All text must be at open space, with numbered pages. Articles should not exceed 25 pages, including footnotes (6500 words). Artwork can be sent either electronically or via regular mail.

All articles in Mesoamérica appear in Spanish. If the manuscript is accepted for publication and its final form is not already in Spanish, we may ask that you translate it or contribute to translation costs.

We will also ask you for the original photos, maps, and illustrations and some author background information (bio data). If illustrations or other materials are under copyright, it will generally be the author's responsibility to acquire publication rights for it.

Authors are requested to incorporate non-bibliographic material into the text to help minimize footnotes.

All bibliographic citations and references must be in footnote format in the following order (please use examples below as a guide):

- 1) Author's full name, as it appears in the original document; name(s) followed by last name(s).
- 2) Title of book in the original language, in italics, or title of article or essay in "quotation marks" (if an essay appeared in a collective work, please include the work's title and the name of the editor after the word, "en.")
- 3) Edition or number of volumes (tomos), if more than one were published (use arabic numerals). If the work is part of a collection, include the series name too.
- 4) Include (between parentheses) place of publication followed by a ":", publisher, and year(s) of publication.
In the case of a periodical publication, indicate title, volume (if available) followed by a colon, number, date (in parenthesis), volume cited, if applicable (roman numerals), and page numbers (use "pág." or "págs."), if citing an article or quoting a section.
- 5) Page(s) number(s) cited (use "pág." or "págs."). If the reference is to an article in general, include both initial and final page numbers.
- 6) Use semi-colon ";" between books or articles cited in the same footnote.

Examples

book + article Véanse Antonio de Remesal, Historia general de las Indias occidentales y particular de la gobernación de Chiapa y Guatemala, 2 tomos, Biblioteca de Autores Españoles (Madrid: Ediciones Atlas, 1964-1966), II, pág. 354; y Michael Richards, “Cosmopolitan World View and Counterinsurgency in Guatemala”, en Antropological Quarterly 58: 3 (1985), págs. 90-107.

articles and journals

Véanse Guillermo Lohmann Villena, “Los regidores del cabildo de Lima desde 1535 hasta 1635 (Estudio de un grupo de dominio)”, en Revista de Indias 32 (1972), págs. 203-255; y Michael Richards, “Cosmopolitan World View and Counterinsurgency in Guatemala”, en Antropological Quarterly 58: 3 (1985), págs. 90-107.

essay

Oliver La Farge, “Maya Ethnology: The Sequence of Cultures”, en Clarence Hay et al., editores, The Maya and their Neighbors: Essays on Middle American Anthropology and Archaeology (New York: Appleton-Century, 1940), págs. 283-296.

dissertation

Stephen Webre, “The Social and Economic Bases of Cabildo Membership in Seventeenth-century Santiago de Guatemala” (Tesis de doctorado, Tulane University, New Orleans, 1980), págs. 46-53.

archival

“Los indios que eran esclavos...” (1576), AGI, Guatemala 54, f. 32.

documents

AGCA, A3, Leg. 2775, exp. 40090, 5 de noviembre de 1673.

newspapers

La Crónica (20 de julio de 1913), pág. 5.

short notes

from a work previously quoted in the article (last name, short title, pages): Richards, “Cosmopolitan World View”, pág. 97.

Do not use Idem, Ibidem, Op. Cit., cf., etc..

Tables, Maps, Photos, Illustrations

Tables should be concise and neatly prepared.

Please include caption outside the margins or at the back of each illustration.

Send your manuscript to

The Editors of Mesoamérica
Skidmore College
815 North Broadway
Saratoga Springs, NY 12866 USA or to editors@mesoamericarevista.org